From the Editor Emeritus: This is an abbreviated edition of our monthly newsletter. The executive board wants to thank Craig White for his excellent newsletter editor services. We now would like a volunteer to step up and take over providing a monthly newsletter.

Infuse your life with action. Don't wait for it to happen. Make it happen. Make your own future. Make your own hope..., not by passively waiting for grace to come down from upon high, but by doing what you can to make grace happen....

In the meantime, here is a HALF FULL edition for your edification.

We should recognize that on the day that we are born, our glass is half full. In America your chance to fill your glass the rest of the way up is greater than it is anywhere else on this planet. Steve King

Discussion:

Some of you like the status-quo, but at the executive board meeting I brought up the suggestion that we need to involve the younger generation in our club. I still believe we need to influence our school-age kids to consider careers in automobile engineering, design, and maintenance activities and get them excited about Corvettes. I have witnessed some young teenagers on our streets are much more excited about the Rice rockets than by Corvettes. I think the younger generation associates Corvettes with old farts. I think it would be valuable to get the younger generation interested in Corvettes for two reasons: one because they're nice cars, and two: because if nobody buys them, 10 years from now, or 20 years from now, when these kids grow up we won't have Corvettes.

We provide a "Vettes for Vets" cruise, so why not a cruise for kids considering college engineering careers? How about contacting high school auto shop teachers and get them interested in a "Corvettes for Kids" cruise? If you get the newsletter from the National Corvette Museum they in fact have established a training program for the younger generation, they give the kids a chance to ride in a Corvette, they give them a chance to study engineering, and they give them a chance to listen to some of the more experienced people talk about auto design and Corvettes.

The completed form shall be retained with all other event-specific documents.”

 3. Add new Rule 29 as follows “No person who has paid an entry fee at an event shall be allowed to pay a second entry fee where that entrée would effectively allow additional runs using the same vehicle or a second vehicle. All entrants must be available to work and a second entry by a single person would keep them from this requirement. An entrant may pay the entry fee for a second driver using the same car.”
